Special Presentation from Sons of Korah

On the first Sunday in November we are having a special presentation from the music group Sons of Korah. Sons of Korah is an Australian based band devoted to giving a fresh voice to the biblical psalms. Their unique acoustic, multi-ethnic sound gives this biblical songbook a dynamic and emotive new musical expression. The presentation will be a dynamic walk through the Psalms that is both informative and uplifting and band leader Matt Jacoby delivers a powerful message throughout the service. Dr Matthew Jacoby is a teaching pastor, Bible College lecturer and international author.

Sons of Korah believe that the psalms contain a particularly pertinent message for today. They are the supreme biblical portrayal of the spiritual life in all its facets and dynamics. They speak powerfully to a postmodern world that is generally more interested in what the biblical faith looks like from the inside than its abstract doctrinal expression. And for the church today the psalms present a deep and rich spiritual well for prayer and worship. The psalms were originally written as songs and they were intended to be expressed musically. The best way to meditate on God's word is to use music and indeed this was one of dominant original purposes of the psalms. Sons of Korah invite us to discover, through their music, the way in which the psalms can impact our lives today.

Small Groups

During this time of limited social contact and interaction, some people have found it great to get together with a small group of people on ZOOM once a fortnight. They catch up, go through a bible study together and pray for each other.

Getting together in small groups is encouraging and energizing.

You can even telephone into the group if you don't have internet access.

If you would like to be part of a small group please contact Ash.
